

Feel the Light

Can you feel the Light, coming through
And it's right, and it blinds the mind's I
Can you feel the shift coming on, we're moving into a different state of mind

Can you feel the Light shining through
And it blinds the mind's I
It's the vibration, it's going up, and it's going to wake us up

Towering vibrations are going to wake us up
From the dream we're creating
Can you direct the mind to its source

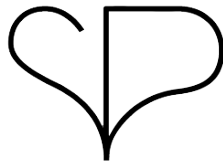

Can you feel the Light coming through
And it's bright, and it blinds the mind's I

Can you let it go?

Light years away from who you thought you were Closer than anything you can see
You're the space that surrounds you, the embrace of it all
You're awareness that is looking through your own eyes

So if you're scared of anything that's coming down your path
Just remember to feel the Light

There's no reason why you should keep coming up with solutions
If the problems exist only in your mind
If you awaken to a Light brighter than the sun
You'll see the glorious imperfection of it all

SOULRADIO

Traveling Around

I used to travel around you know, but now I don't feel the need no more
I've been traveling all over the world, though I didn't find what I was looking for
I used to travel in style you see, but now these clothes don't suit me anymore
I used to put up a fight you know, every time there was something blocking my way

You've got to lay it down on me

There's something pulling me away from base, and I don't think I can hold out anymore
I'm going to reach for higher ground, where the only thing standing is Love
In all those days that I've been traveling around, it never dawned on me to look inside
All those ways of trying to find peace of mind, are just another way of leading you astray

You've got to lay it down over me

Emptiness Dancing

So now we've got to dance
Oh now, this is our chance
We stand our ground
We work through sound
We will be emptied out we'll be clean
Oh now, it's our time
Waking up from the dream
Step out of the trance

Now it's time to dance
Step out of the trance
Engage in a deep romance
Head in first you know you've got to
Try to tune in
With everything you got
And then you let it go
You try again you take another ...

In the frenzy of your mind
Silence is dead
Dead out of sight
It hides behind
It's always there
The storm will rage on before the calm
Step out of the trance

Now it's time to dance
Step out of the trance
Engage in a deep romance
Head in first you know you've got to
Try to tune in
With everything you got
And then you let it go
You try again you take another dance

So now. Were here to stay
Oh now
Why don't you stay?
Don't look back
There's no regrets It's just another dance

Paladin

Where will we go, go from here
When we couldn't see everything it was so clear
But the veil is gone, gone to stay
And there's no turning back, you have no say

Drop the bomb, come looking for the One

It's time to stand, stand your ground
Time to deploy your senses and reach out
It's time to feel, feel the Light
Time to wake up and slow down inside

When will she drop the bomb to say come looking now for the One

It takes a whole lot of courage to stop holding on
We all walk the line we try to do the best we can
It takes a whole lot of Heart to dance your way to the One

There's rules to bend, and dreams to mend
And see, you'll no longer have to pretend
Let your fire burn, let your heart yearn
For the right to be no longer has to be earned

When will she drop the bomb to say come looking now for the One

It takes a whole lot of courage to stop holding on
We all walk the line we try to do the best we can
It takes a whole lot of Heart to dance your way to the One

Where will we go, go from here
Now that we see everything now that it's clear
There's nowhere to go, nothing to find
So you can sit back, relax. Enjoy the ride

It takes a whole lot of courage to stop holding on
We all walk the line we try to do the best we can
It takes a whole lot of Heart to dance your way to the One

Mayday

You thought I'd never come this far
But you know I never tried. Now I can see you smile
So you sold your spontaneity to your bank account last night
That didn't make me smile

While you were waiting for me to get you out of your restraints
It took me by surprise to feel the change
I was mirrored, something dawned, I realized that you can learn
To stop it going on today

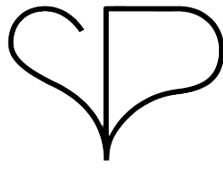

You kept to yourself and it was yours to keep but you never even liked it
So what was that all about?
I kept coming back for more, like a junky to the floor
What's in store today?

Flock of seagulls flocking evermore
There's one she's going to fly away to stay
There's a Jonathan in everyone whereas they don't come out that often
But you should see because it's so beautiful

You know there's always time to change it all around we all got the spark
But you can't find the time, your procrastinate and launch your hate campaigns
And it's all the same all over again

You're still waiting for me to get you out of your restraints
I'm looking out for you to fly way each day
So go on and take the dive and do it for yourself
It's the only way to fly

Now it's time to get up and dance in the fire of Now

SOULRADIO

Strike me Down

You say you want me
But I just want to dance
You play your games and Give me another chance

You say you want me
Come knocking on my door
Your eyes they blind me
Make me come back for more

Don't know what to do
I'm going round and round
Only Love can strike you down

Don't know what to say
You got me spinning around
Only Love can strike you down

Walk the Path (Dance to your own Beat)

You may find my friend, that your happiness depends
On something other than yourself
This way everyday it seems an endless struggle
To find where your place in life is at
But you're bound to loose it's a dead end street
Let me show you another way to go

I really think that you should try to

Dance to your own beat when you can
Your story is your own to write my friend
The time is right
Walk the path from now on

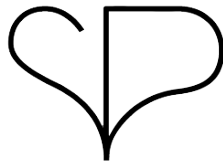

Short of breath you feel after every trip you take
To a world of craving and despair
But what you really need is to free your mind from clinging on
To everything it finds on its way
Just watch yourself, don't think about it
Let your worries be, they'll burn away

Dance to your own beat when you can
Your story is your own to write my friend
The time is right
Walk the path from now on

Can you feel it now?

There's an open door waiting for everyone
And all you've got to do is walk through
Open up your senses to the present and you'll see
There's nothing to worry about

So when you find my friend
That your life depends
On something other than yourself
Just watch yourself don't think about it
Let your worries be they'll burn away

SOULRADIO

And I still think that you should try to

Dance to your own beat when you can
Your story is your own to write my friend
The time is right
Walk the path from now on

Can you feel it now?

There's an open door waiting for everyone
And all you've got to do is walk through
Open up your senses to the present and you'll see
There's nothing to worry about

All in a Smile

All in a smile I thought I saw
Something else than you meant to show me girl
It blew my mind away, it felt so good
To be just sitting here with you I think I feel
I'd like to stay here for a while

It seems a long time ago since then and I feel
A shift has taken place, oh I can see
My skies so clear
Birds are flying high
And there's just one road ahead
I can't fall behind no more
Because I'm right where I want to be

To give away myself to you
Is just a way to lose my mind

Every time I wake up now I always feel
Lucky as can be
Because all that's been is gone
So why worry about it now
All in good time will be whatever is supposed to be
And we will watch the scenes effortlessly free

To give away myself to you
Is just a way to lose my mind

In every smile I see myself as part of everything
It's like a veil has been lifted up
And the wheels keep spinning around

To give away myself to you
Is just a way to lose my mind

The Preacher

When I came down to see you
With a bandaid on my knee
It was like everything fell through
I could hardly even see
Although I felt like crying
There was something to be done
If I'm going to do it
I'd better do it with a smile and I'll be fine

When your load is heavy
And there is nowhere you can turn
And all that you can think of
Is a way to come clean
It's time to stop and look around you
Maybe you will find
Someone who could tell you
What it's all about
That would be real fine

He is going to tell you life is easy
Feel the ground beneath your feet
You don't need no one to please you
You've got all the love you need
You can leave it all behind know, there is nothing you can do
And if you're going to do it, better do it with a smile and you'll be fine

When your load is heavy
And you need chrome for your wheels
And all that you can think of
Is a way to come clean
It's time to stop and look around you
There is more to go around
But there is no one who can tell you
What it's all about
And you know, that's fine

I'm telling you life is easy. Feel the ground beneath your feet
Don't need no one to please me
I got all the love I need
You can leave it all behind know, there is nothing you can do
And if you're going to do it, better do it with a smile and you'll be fine

Now is the time

Now is the time so don't you stay behind
To take a trip to outer time, if you can ease your mind
It's like flying through the sky, just feel the space around you and you'll know that it's right, you'll know that you've found it
And the time is always Now

There's always other things to do, instead of what you really want
You know there's always something new, to keep you from going
For what you really want to be
Although there's always time to try it there's never any time
That you'll be ready to go

But the downside of life will never go away
Foresight is not the only key because

Now is the time to leave it all behind
To take a trip to outer time, if you can ease your mind
It's like flying through the sky, just feel the space around you
And you'll feel all right, you'll know that you've found it

If you stop and look around, over and over again
You're already stepping out of the rapids of your mind
And maybe you will find a stillness in time
Then you can listen to the sound, of the clapping of a single hand

But the downside of life will never go away
Foresight is not the only key because

Now is the time to leave it all behind
To take a trip to outer time, if you can ease your mind
It's like flying through the sky, just feel the space around you
And you'll know that it's all right, you'll know that you've found it
And the time is always Now